

2008 Outstanding Teachers

Katherine Clulo
Outstanding Elementary teacher of the Year.

Kathy Clulo is an outstanding teacher with 17 years of experience in the Roseville Schools.

Katherine Clulo

Anyone who has ever met Mrs. Clulo will attest to her enthusiasm and passion for teaching. She has incredible patience, a kind manner and makes learning fun. The children can't wait to find out what they will learn in class that day. Mrs. Clulo is very positive and supportive. Her kindergarten classroom environment is a world of discovery for the five-year old child. All students are thoroughly engaged in enriching, meaningful learning opportunities. The children's achievements are celebrated each day.

As a professional, Mrs. Clulo is a lifelong learner. She actively seeks and participates in professional development opportunities. She has piloted several curriculum programs such as KLP and the Waterford software program. Mrs. Clulo has mentored new teachers and has been a supervising teacher for WMU student teachers. She is an active member of the Fountain Elementary North Central Accreditation Committee and the Parent Teacher Organization.

A testimony to Mrs. Clulo's successful career is the number of former students and parents who credit her with giving them a wonderful start on their education journey. Mrs. Clulo is an asset to her profession and a gift to all who are taught by her.

Ryan Hansen Junior High School Teacher of the Year.

Ryan Hansen is an active member of the Roseville Junior High math department and an integral part of its award winning Math Attack program. He also served as a curriculum consultant to fifth and sixth grade teachers who are preparing students for junior high school.

Mr. Hansen has created a safe, respectful classroom atmosphere and maintains high expectations for his students. He utilizes a variety of effective instructional strategies and strives to discover how much the students understand and what thinking processes they are using. He shows a personal interest in his students' lives. He tutors students before school, during lunch, and after school on a regular basis.

Mr. Hansen assists with numerous school activities including evening and extracurricular events. He supervised Roseville High School Activities Night for outgoing ninth-graders in 2006 and has been a reader for Student Excellence Award Nights every year. He also serves as North Central Accreditation co-chair person at Roseville Junior High School.

Mr. Hansen regularly calls parents with positive feedback and to express concern when a student is having difficulty. His goal is to help parents support their student.

For Ryan Hansen teaching is not just a job but also a calling. He is an invaluable asset to the Roseville Community Schools and a most deserving recipient of the Junior High Teacher of the Year Award.

Jason Bettin High School Teacher of the Year.

Jason Bettin is a talented educator who has been part of the Roseville High School Social Studies department for the past seven years. His commitment to education is demonstrated daily and he has a keen ability to make history interesting to even the most skeptical of students.

In addition to social studies classes, Jason has been teaching Advanced Placement U.S. History for five years. He uses a variety of approaches to meet multiple learning styles among his students. Jason does not just put forth the information; he has a strong desire for students to understand the material, encouraging them to think critically, helping them rise to a higher learning level. Jason is an excellent role model for his students. He demands the best and does not relax those standards, which in turn, helps his students reach their full potential.

Jason is not only an outstanding teacher; he is a dedicated, highly respected coach. Mr. Bettin has coached the Varsity Boys Swim Team for the past five years and the Varsity Girls Swim Team for the past six years. In 2007-2008 he was named MAC Blue Boys' Co-Coach of the Year. It is no easy task for a new teacher to coach any two sports in a year, let alone two varsity sports, which require extreme dedication, discipline, and outstanding organizational skills. Jason Bettin has proven to be one of the most professional, compassionate, and caring staff members at Roseville High School.
